This means that position #1 could still be in their warm up when position # 2 has officially started their match. In case rain comes at this moment, position #2 will need to be resumed by the four (4) players on the court as is. Position #1 players could be changed by both teams if needed because they did not officially start their match.

 - A match already in progress being completed on another day -
 - Players that started the match must be the same players to continue play

- Play resumes exactly where it was left off
- Same set score, game score, team/person serving, team/person receiving
- Individual positions for an in-progress match being completed on another day may be played on different days upon agreement by all four (4) players involved.
- All four (4) players are responsible for confirming & reporting the final score to their captains
- A match already in progress is delayed but hopes of being resumed same day –
 - Both Captains need to agree on how long to wait for the courts to become playable before trying to resume play
 - It only takes one (1) player to say they don't feel safe playing & play will not resume
- A match where both teams are at the match site but match play has not begun and play will begin on another day –
 - Lineups can be changed by both Captains
 - Any previous divulged forfeits are null/void
